Dr. [REDACTED] who was previously mentioned [REDACTED] as being interested in the development of a carcinolytic extract derived from herbs by native Indian doctors, is presently in the US working on this problem. Dr. [REDACTED] See paragraph 6, [REDACTED] who was expelled from the National Institute of Hygiene in Peru and who had the sole contact with the Indians which made this extract available, is no longer cooperating in this work. Since the extract was no longer available it was feared that the source was lost but Dr. [REDACTED] has isolated a yeast or mold which is an antibiotic and from which he has been able to produce the active chemical. The results of his efforts will probably be published in the US when his results have progressed sufficiently.
